OPENING SEQUENCE (Dark, slow, tense)

VISUAL:

A corridor filled with dust, peeling wallpaper, shadows stretching unnaturally long. We hear faint whispers—distant, unintelligible, like someone calling for help.

SFX:

Soft rain outside. A door creaks. A loud thud.

VOICEOVER (slow, tense):

In the town of Amityville, New York... stands a house.

A house many believe does not just hold evil...

but creates it.

Some call it cursed.

Some call it a hoax.

But everyone agrees on one thing...

No one who enters this house leaves unchanged.

SCENE 1 — THE BLOODY BEGINNING (1974)

VISUAL: Old newspaper clippings sliding across the screen:

"Six Found Murdered in Home"

"Young Man Kills Entire Family"

Black-and-white mugshot of Ronald DeFeo Jr.

VOICEOVER:

It was a quiet night on November 13, 1974.

In the now-famous Amityville house, a 23-year-old man named Ronald DeFeo Jr. walked from bedroom to bedroom... armed with a .35 caliber rifle... and executed his entire family.

SFX:

Low heartbeat. Distant gunshots echo like memories.

VISUAL:

Re-enactment silhouettes: mother, father, two brothers, two sisters—sleeping. No struggle. No screams.

VOICEOVER (disturbed):

But here's the strange part.

All the victims were found lying face down, as if they never woke up.

No neighbors heard screams.

No one in the home tried to escape.

Even stranger... the neighbors heard no gunshots, though the rifle was loud enough to shake windows.

POP-UP TEXT:

Six murders. One gun. No noise. No fight.

VOICEOVER:

DeFeo later claimed an unseen force made him do it.

He said...

"Voices told me to kill."

SFX: whispering voices build, then cut abruptly.

SCENE 2 — THE LIVING NIGHTMARE (The Lutz Family)

VISUAL: Happy family photo of George and Kathy Lutz with their children.

It slowly darkens and morphs into a haunting silhouette of the house.

VOICEOVER:

Thirteen months later, the house was put on sale.

Cheap price. Fully furnished.

Who would refuse such a deal?

VISUAL:

Family entering excitedly with boxes.

VOICEOVER:

George and Kathy Lutz moved in with their children.

They lasted only 28 days.

What happened inside during those four weeks... would become one of the most terrifying paranormal cases in history.

 THE LIVING STARTS CHANGING

VISUAL:

George sitting alone in the cold basement, shivering.

VOICEOVER:

George began waking every night at 3:15 AM—the exact time the murders were committed.

SFX: ticking clock, reaching 3:15 AM.

VOICEOVER:

He became obsessed with fire, claiming the house kept making him cold.

Neighbors noticed he began resembling Ronald DeFeo—the killer.

VISUAL: split screen: George's face slowly approaches Ronald's mugshot.

 THE RED ROOM

VISUAL: dark hidden door behind shelves; eerie red glow.

VOICEOVER:

The Lutz family's dog refused to go near a small hidden room in the basement.

They later learned the previous owner called it "The Devil's Room".

 THE WHITE-FACED PIG

VISUAL: glowing pig with red eyes peering through the window.

VOICEOVER:

The youngest daughter, Missy, began speaking to an invisible friend named Jodie... a demonic pig-like creature with glowing red eyes.

SFX: Pig squeal mixed with whisper, extremely low.

THE PRIEST

VISUAL: Catholic priest throwing holy water, violently coughing.

VOICEOVER:

A priest who came to bless the house felt slapped. A voice ordered him to leave.

PRISER (real quote):

“Get out.”

BLOOD ON THE WALLS

VISUAL: green ooze dripping off walls like slime mixed with blood.

THE FINAL NIGHT

The final night, doors slammed, walls shook, black ooze poured, strange odors filled the house. The Lutz family ran away barefoot into the night... never to return.

SCENE 3 — IS IT REAL? THE INVESTIGATION

VISUAL: Paranormal teams setting equipment. Books, interviews, documentaries.

VOICEOVER:

Were these real hauntings?

Or was it a clever publicity stunt to make money?

Debunking Claims

- No witness confirmed slime ever existed.
- No police record that the priest was attacked.
- The Lutz family sold their story to publishers.

But Counter Evidence

- 911 tapes confirm the murders.
- Forensics confirm impossible deaths (no noise, no movement).
- Paranormal investigators claim the house radiated unexplained energy.

THE PHOTO THAT CHANGED EVERYTHING

VISUAL: The actual 1976 ghost photograph of the child with glowing eyes.

VOICEOVER:

Many skeptics changed their mind when this was released.
No children were in the house during investigation.

SCENE 4 — WHAT LIVES IN THE HOUSE NOW?

VOICEOVER:

Since the Lutz family, several families lived there.
No one reported anything.
The house was remodeled, renumbered to hide identity.
But visitors say the energy still feels heavy... like something watches.

SCENE 5 — FINAL QUESTION

VOICEOVER (dark, slow):

Was it a demonic haunting?
Psychological breakdown?
Or the house itself feeding on fear... growing stronger each time another believer enters?

VISUAL: Door slowly closing to darkness.

Maybe the real horror of Amityville isn't in what happened there... but in what it makes us imagine could happen to us.

 Question to Audience:

Do you believe the Amityville House is truly haunted?
Or do you think it's a clever hoax?
